

Save Your Face! Be At Merchants Picnic On Sunday

For the ninth time the Daly City Merchants Association will be "stepping out" this coming Sunday (August 1), at Oak Cove Park, where a good old-fashioned picnic will be enjoyed by citizens of this city as well as out of town guests from all sections of the county.

TO ASK COUNTY VOTE TO CREATE EXTRA JUSTICE

Sought To Amend Charter To Have Two Judges Elected In First Township

According to a statement attributed to the chairman of the board, the County Supervisors propose to submit an amendment to the election at the general election in 1938 to provide two justices of the peace in the First Township, one in Daly City and the other in South San Francisco. However, this would not alter the jurisdictional area of the various townships nor increase their number.

"In view of the demand for two courts in the north-end district, it is the board's sentiment that the people of the county should be allowed to decide the question of whether there shall be two justices in the First Township," the chairman declared.

Judge Clay set up the South San Francisco court as a branch of his Daly City court immediately after his election to the office. When it was proposed by Chairman Smith several months ago to do away with one of the courts, there was a storm of protests from city councils, civic clubs and others in the north-end, who wanted both courts maintained.

If the amendment carries, the vacancy on the second bench would be filled by appointment of the board until the next regular election, when the judge would be elected by the first district.

The board of supervisors revealed recently that Judge Clay's budget for 1937-1938 had been cut from $6773 requested, to $5048 tentatively allowed, a reduction of about $1725. Permitting the north-end justice one clerk, the board refused to allow him a second clerk at a salary of $1200.

The board also eliminated rental of his courtroom in the city hall at Daly City.

Rent for the office in the South San Francisco city hall was cut from $600 to $300.

If a second justice should be installed these items of expense would necessarily need be restored.

RACING OF HIGH CLASS AT BADEN KENNEL COURSE

When two battalions of Marines were authorized in 1775, Congress stipulated that "no persons should be appointed to office or enlisted into said battalions, but such as are good seamen, or so acquainted with maritime affairs as to be able to serve to advantage by sea when required."

RULE MODIFIED

Modern conditions have greatly modified this rule, and nowadays a knowledge of the sea is not required of Marine Corps recruits. Marines are especially trained for sea duties; all of the corps' important posts are near the sea; and most of the sea soldiers when they are not actually assigned to duty aboard battleships or cruisers, make numerous sea voyages during an enlistment.

Sister Honored By Surprise Shower

Mrs. Hally Moral of Los Angeles was hostess to a group of friends, Thursday evening of last week, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. McKeown, of Los Olivos avenue, in honor of her sister, Miss Sue McKeown, who was tendered a surprise miscellaneous shower.

The table was very attractive with festoons of ferns and white stocks. A huge wedding ring with a shower

What fun! Plenty of games, including barnyard golf, running races for all ages and various other teasers to test your skill, prove yourself a winner and receive one or more of the many attractive prizes given away by our own merchants. There will be all kinds of entertainment features. There will be dancing, too.

The Daly City Band will render a concert, one of the outstanding features of the picnic.

Realizing that all play and no eats makes Jack a hungry boy, our merchants have covered this situation in a big way with free hot dogs and hot coffee. Bring your own cups, for these will not be furnished. "Get up and get out" under the spell of nature with her great outdoors, and meet everybody else at 9 o'clock, Sunday morning, in front of the Daly City Hall. Let's all go together down to Oak Cove Park in one grand procession.

If you don't make this appointment, be sure to be at the park, or you'll miss the best time of your life.

CONFERENCE FOR FARM PLANNING ADOPTION HELD

Agricultural Officials Meet In Berkeley And Draft Recommendations

Recommendations for a 1938 Agricultural Conservation Program stressing soil conservation and adaptability to California agricultural conditions were made by California farmers at a recent Berkeley conference. These recommendations are now being studied by Agricultural Adjustment Administration officials.

Meeting in a three-day conference at the California College of Agriculture in Berkeley, July 19 to 21, farmers discussed all phases of agricultural conservation problems with officials of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the College of Agriculture of the University of California.

In developing plans for the 1938 program in California, state and county committeemen at the Berkeley conference adopted the principle "that there should be no material changes in the present program except as such changes would result in simplification, better understanding

Implement Dealers To Come To State Exhibit By Special Train

A 25 foot painted plaster map showing most of California in miniature relief, with the engineering units of the great Central Valley Project indicated in color, will be one of the chief interests at the California State Fair at Sacramento, September 3-12.

The map will enable fair-goers to locate the principal construction units of the Central Valley Project whose cost runs into millions. This can be done by tracing the illuminated and colored outlines that show the course of water from the Kennett and Friant Dams. The map is part of the Alta California Inc. exhibit.

Use of scrip for admission to the fair is announced by Secretary-Manager Robert Muckler. This is a plan of the Board of Directors to enable persons to attend the all-state show at a minimum price of 25 cents when scrip is purchased. The regular price is 50 cents.

Scrip is ten admissions in a book costing $2.50. The ordinary price of

He was aiding 250 Americans taking refuge in the legation when he was shot. The commander of the Chinese troops who did the shooting apologized and explained that they thought the party was Japanese. Shown here is the American Legation building, which is being protected by marines during the Japanese siege of Peiping.

PARLEY WILL BE HELD ON CAMPUS BY PUBLISHERS

Stanford University Chosen As Scene For Conference In September

WHAT CAN THE ANSWER BE?

Why two justices of the peace for the First Township? Can it be possible that there may be an Ethiopian concealed somewhere in the lumber pile?

We understand the decision to cease payment of rental for a court room in the Daly City Hall was based on a prohibitive clause in the county charter. By the same token any fair minded person might conclude that it would be more sensible to amend the charter to allow $25 per month to be expended for this legitimate purpose than to attempt to secure an amendment whereby the sum of $2100 per year may be paid for the salary of an additional justice of the peace in the First Township, with, of course, the added necessary expenses of such an office.

It appears ridiculous, in the face of the assertion that curtailment was made of Judge Wade H. Clay's court expenses to effect a saving to the taxpayers to attempt to saddle these taxpayers with an additional salary burden and the expenses of the office for the purpose of creating another political position in the First Township.

It would seem there is some motive behind the whole thing besides good business judgment in the interests of the county taxpayers.

It is well known that it is an old trick to punish political enemies by curtailing their legitimate and necessary expense accounts in order to hamper the efficient conduct of the business of their department.

There will be prizes, too, of which you will be informed, from time to time, in the columns of this paper.

The Daly City Branch No. 49 of the I. C. F. wishes to extend its appreciation to the officials of this city and to the Daly City Record for their co-operation and encouragement in putting over this anticipated event, the State Reunion and Inauguration Festival in October.

Production To Include All Parts Of County—Based On Novel Of West

Plans for the most stupendous production ever staged in the Bay Area—the pageant for this year's San Mateo County Floral Fiesta—were completed this week and Stewart Edward White, noted novelist, had stamped his official approval on the scenario for the show.

Producer of the pageant, scheduled each night of the Fiesta at Bay Meadows, September 23-26, will be Lou Ashe, Fanchon and Marco productions expert, who recently came to this county after directing the pageant at the Covered Wagon Days at Salt Lake City.

PAGEANT IN FOUR ACTS

The spectacle will be in four acts with nearly 300 persons—including many from Daly City and other nearby towns—and will have a host of horsemen, dancers and singers. The entire production is based on White's "The Ranchero," famed novel of the old west.

Anyone who wishes to try out for a part in the pageant—the entire cast will be selected on a tryout basis—may contact Fiesta Headquarters, San Mateo, or R. H. Severin, 705 Vernon way, Burlingame, pageant committee chairman, and submit his or her name.

Actual rehearsals for the pageant will start on August 23. Little Theater and other play groups will be called in to aid in the production, Ashe said.

DRAFT OF SCENARIO

Meeting with the pageant committee, Ashe read his first draft of the scenario and made a few minor

CITY FATHERS MOVING TO AID PLAYGROUNDS

Proceeds From Sale Of Lot To Be Placed In Special Fund

On Monday evening of this week action was initiated with a view to establishing a fund for the acquisition for Daly City of adequate, long needed, playgrounds and for the proper improvement of the park property now owned by the city.

By unanimous vote the City Council decided to accept the offer of $850 from Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church for the purchase of one of the lots owned by the city immediately adjoining the church property on Wellington avenue. It is understood the real estate will be used for improvement and extension of the church buildings.

The motion to dispose of the lot also carried the proviso that the money be placed in a special fund to be created for the purpose of acquiring suitable sites for public playgrounds in various sections of the city. The improvement of the seven-acre plot, now owned by the city, which was donated several years ago for park purposes is also contemplated with money from this fund. It is proposed to lay out a field which can be used for baseball and

INLAND CITIES PROVIDE MANY SOLDIERS OF SEA

Enlistments Not Affected By Geographical Locations But By Recruiting Stations

For many months the United States Marine Corps has conducted its recruiting along either the East or West coasts, but it is now seeking replacements for its personnel far from any seaboard. For a while Chicago was the only centrally located city where sea soldiers were enlisted, but officers are now operating in Cincinnati, Kansas City and Denver.

It is a common belief that men from the maritime states are more inclined to seek some vacation which has the sea for a background. Our country has about 5000 miles of coastline, 15,000 miles of navigable rivers and 3,700 miles of shore line of navigable lakes. Thousands of Americans who live near this long expanse of shore know something of seamanship, and it is logical for our citizens to be a seafaring people.

ENLISTMENTS AFFECTED

Experience proves, however, that enlistments in the Marine Corps are affected by the number of recruiting stations, regardless of their geographical locations, and that men who hail from the maritime states are no more attracted by the prospect of a life at sea than are others who live far from the coastline.

Thus the corps is reaching out to points remote from the sea to gather its necessary quota of recruits, a policy which is fully justified by the fact that about one-third of its enlistments during a recent fiscal year were obtained from inland cities.

When two battalions of Marines were authorized in 1975, Congress stipulated that "no persons should be appointed to office or enlisted into said battalions, but such as are good seamen, or so acquainted with maritime affairs as to be able to serve to advantage by sea when required."

RULE MODIFIED

Modern conditions have greatly modified this rule, and nowadays a knowledge of the sea is not required of Marine Corps recruits. Marines are especially trained for sea duties; all of the corps' important posts are near the sea; and most of the sea soldiers when they are not actually assigned to duty aboard battleships or cruisers, make numerous sea voyages during an enlistment.

Sister Honored By Surprise Shower

Mrs. Hally Moral of Los Angeles was hostess to a group of friends, Thursday evening of last week, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. McKeown, of Los Olivos avenue, in honor of her sister, Miss Sue McKeown, who was tendered a surprise miscellaneous shower.

The table was very attractive with festoons of ferns and white stocks. A huge wedding ring with a shower bridal bouquet of white paper flowers occupied the center of the table. Miniature French bouquets were the favors.

Daly City Tanforan
Juniors Win Again

Our local boys won their ninth straight victory at the Jefferson Union High School diamond, last Sunday, July 25. George Nighthanti scored his third triumph by letting the Mexico A. C. down with only four hits.

The best work of the afternoon was a triple play by the home team. With men on first and second bases, Martinez hit a line drive to Gerstenberg, who threw to Lucia and Lucia relayed to Schmidt to retire the side.

RURAL FIRE LOSS GREAT

The most fertile field for reduction of fire loss is in the rural sections of the country. That is the gist of a report by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

Last year, for instance, the per capita fire loss for the nation as a whole was $2.05—an increase of 10.8 per cent over 1935. But the per capita loss in cities with more than 20,000 population was but $1.40, an increase of only 5.3 per cent. The better record of the cities is ascribed "not only to the efficiency of municipal fire departments, but also to the cumulative effects of fire prevention activities and of modern building code requirements."

Adequate fire prevention in rural sections presents difficult problems. But, as many sections of the country have shown, they are by no means insoluble. The interest of farmers should be aroused in spurring fire prevention campaigns, and in learning the relatively simple lessons that make it possible for individuals to eliminate the great bulk of the hazards in homes and places of business. It is practical for a group of small towns to acquire fire-fighting apparatus that can be strategically located to respond to calls quickly over a fairly wide area. The cost of this is far outweighed by the benefits.

Each year tens of millions of dollars worth of property is destroyed on farms and in small villages. Lives are lost. This waste can be largely prevented if the public is aroused to how it may be obviated. Let's make our towns and homes safe from fire.

JOBS FOR THE UNDERTAKER

Four out of every five automobile accidents occur on dry roads in clear weather. Four out of every five automobile accidents involve cars driving straight ahead.

Here is the statistical proof of the disregard for every rule of courtesy and safety that characterizes the reckless or incompetent motorist. He constantly overestimates the "safety factors" of good roads and modern cars. A straight highway and a clear day act as bait to make him "open her up"—with the result that the undertaker gets about 37,000 new accounts each year.

A National Safety Council survey lists the seven most important causes of fatal accidents, in order, as follows: Exceeding speed limit or driving too fast for road and weather conditions; driving on the wrong side of the road; disregarding stop signs and signals; usurping right of way; cutting in; passing on hills and curves; failure to signal for stopping and turning.

These driving errors cause the great bulk of all serious accidents, and the first is by far the worst. Every one of them is a human error—and every accident they produce could be prevented if individual drivers would observe the most elementary rules of caution and proper driving.

In conclusion, here is one more fact you might think over next time you feel the urge to step on it: At 20 miles per hour, one accident in 61 is fatal, while at 50 or more miles per hour, one accident in every 11 produces a corpse.

Must Pay Final Wage Says The Commission

California employers who refuse to pay wages to employees leaving their service unless the employee signs an Unemployment Reserves Commission severance report are violating commission rules.

A member of the commission representing labor made this announcement, late last week, when it was learned that a specific case of this type had been found in San Diego.

According to the letter written to the commission, an employee left the service of a San Diego employer and thereupon went to Los Angeles. The employer refused to pay his final wages until the severance report had been signed.

It was specifically stated that severance reports are no longer required by the commission. Instead of these reports, the commission now requires the quarterly earnings of California workers. These earnings are in lieu of the severance slip.

Formerly announcement of this action was posted to each subject employer through the department's office publication, "Employment News," July issue.

ANOTHER SCENIC WAY FOR MOTOR TRAVEL TO OPEN

Feather River Highway To Offer Motorists New And Beautiful Drive

August vacationers as yet undecided where to go may have the thrill of rediscovering California by driving northward into rugged mountain country over the new Feather River Highway, on State Route 24.

This scenic highway, following the deep gorge of the Feather River, is to be added to the state highway system on August 14, when it will be officially dedicated and opened to traffic.

Blasting much of the roadway out of solid granite canyon walls, state highway engineers have pushed construction since 1928. The 78 mile road connects Oroville and Quincy, County seats of Butte and Plumas Counties and is part of the interstate route connecting with U. S. No. 40 at Reno. A $7,000,000 project, the highway assures an all year passage across a wooded mountainous country. It is the lowest altitude route over the northern California range, at no point exceeding 4,500 feet in elevation.

Following the winding Feather River, the highway shares the steep canyon with the Western Pacific railroad. The almost perpendicular walls necessitated building the highway on the opposite side of the gorge from the railroad. Each time the railroad crosses the river, the highway is forced to cross also, bridges of the two roads playing a spectacular game of leap-frog over the canyon. The drive over this modern highway, passing through one of northern California's finest scenic regions, is expected to be one of the most popular motoring trips in the state.

Musical Program By Male Quartet

The men's quartet of Pasadena College will have charge of a service at the Grace Church of the Nazarene, located at 101 Vista Grande avenue at Santa Barbara tonight, Friday evening, July 30 at 8 p. m. according to the Rev. N. M. Lewis local pastor. The quartet is composed of Wesley Unfried, first tenor; Carl Ponsford, second; Dallas Olin, first bass; and Ellis Stiff, second bass. They will sing several numbers and each will speak briefly. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Enrollment In CCC Has Only 1 Day More

Announcement is made that the current CCC enrollment will continue through Saturday, July 31, and there is still time for boys between the ages of 17 and 24 to place their applications with the local selecting agent.

Camps throughout California offer a variety of educational courses which are open to all enrollees. Stenography, photography, aeronautics and diesel engine mechanics are among those available. Many former enrollees have located lucrative positions as a result of this training.

It is now possible for boys who are not members of a family on relief to enroll for camp. Applicants must be citizens of the United States and must be physically fit for out-door life.

Applications for enrollment should be made at the State Relief Administration, 430 Peninsula avenue, San Mateo.

Rodents In Nevada To Be Exterminated

Because they are destructive to farm crops a drive to stamp out rodents is now under way in this state under the direction of the United States Biological Survey.

Control of these animals is of extreme importance to the prosperity of the agriculture of Nevada, it is declared. The rodents causing the most damage are rabbits, ground squirrels, and porcupines.

Co-operating with the survey and the elimination program are the State of Nevada, the United States Forest Service, the University of Nevada Agricultural Extension Service, the United States Bureau of Reclamation, farmers and ranchers and the Taylor Grazing administration.

Final Competitions Held For CMTC

The third week of the Citizens Military Training Camp, Presidio of Monterey, California, was concluded with finishing touches being applied to the drill and the final sports play-offs. Final competitions and awards for proficiency at camp were made, Wednesday of this week. Parents and friends of the CMTC youths at camp and the general public were extended invitations to visit the camp. Several local boys were members of the CMTC.

BRINGING PROSPERITY TO FARMS HARD TASK

By J. W. MARCHBANK
Pioneer in Frontier Mining Work

Surveys have shown that in 1880 only 26 per cent of the farmers of this country did not own the land they worked. At present 42 per cent of the farm land is in the hands of tenants. Not such an enticing picture for the student of agrarian affairs. It must be remembered, too, that each year nearly 40,000 farmers lose title to their lands, passing either into the ranks of renters or giving up agriculture.

The recognition of the necessity of doing something has resulted in the framing of the Bankhead-Jones farm tenancy bill. The reactionary group thinks little of the measure, as it expresses disbelief in the efficacy of legislation in the correction of economic abuses. The New Deal group, on the other hand, is convinced something can be done and is determined to do it.

It has been found that much of the land now being tilled by tenant farmers is not economically workable. Accordingly, retirement of sub-marginal land has been under way for several years under the Federal Reclamation Administration.

The 9,000,000 acres which the Reclamation Administration has purchased or taken options on up to this time is about one-tenth of the total acreage which President Roosevelt's committee estimated would have to be withdrawn from farming.

The human equation enters into the vexing problem of helping the farmer, or rather helping him to help himself. The Brookings Institution, in its report after a long investigation, says as the result of better education and better equipment American agriculture increased its eficiency by 20 per cent between 1900 and 1930.

It is pointed out that tenant farmers would have to be trained in better farming methods and stirred from the inertia caused by insecurity in addition to having land of their own turned over to them in order to succeed.

Several proposals have been made to prevent a tenant from selling the land turned over to him and it was finally decided to insert a provision in the bill forbidding resale within five years.

As a conclusion to all its studies in agriculture the economists say increased production is the key to any rise in the nation's standard of living. That applies to both the share-cropper and the industrial worker.

Dr. Isador Lubin, Federal Commissioner of Statistics, estimates the small sum of $1250 as the minimum income for the average family to maintain itself in what is known as the American way. Other estimates go as high as $20,000 a year. Last year's national income, if it were possible to divide it equally, would allow to each family about $2200.

At the height of the expansion in the late twenties 70 per cent of the population had incomes below $2500.

The difficulty in raising the income of a large number of citizens comes in the circumstance that it would require an increase of about 80 per cent in the creation of consumers goods. It has been found that between 1920 and 1930 only 20 per cent of the country's capacity to produce was not utilized.

In some sections the problem for the farmer is complicated by the fact that he pays interest on 80 per cent of the value of his land, leaving little margin for subsistence.

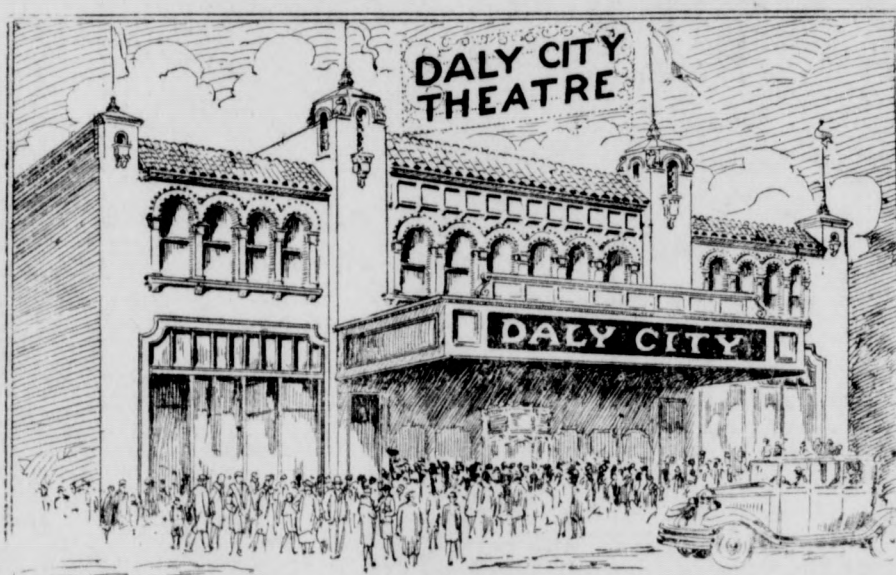

Slight Difference Of Interpretation

The Aberdonian drew his car up at the big hotel, attracted by a sign "Free Garage."

After putting his car in it, he strolled in the grounds, but, as he showed no signs of entering the booking office, an attendant came out and asked him what accommodation he needed for the night.

"None, my son," replied the traveler, "I'm sleeping in my little car yonder."—Edinburgh Dispatch.

UNUSUAL NAME

Little Doreen had just received a new doll from her aunt. "And what are you going to name her?" the aunt asked.

Little Doreen looked aghast. "Don't you remember what song you taught me—'Where are you going to, my pretty maid?' 'I'm going a-milking, sir, she said?'"—Montreal Star.

OBSERVATION OF THINGS GOING ON IN OUR CAPITAL

Interesting Review Of Another Worth While Point For Sightseers In Washington

In Washington there are probably more worth while points of interest per square mile than any other place in the United States for you, me and Mr. and Mrs. American citizen. Let us visit one of these beautiful and worth while places this afternoon—the Franciscan Monastery on Mount St. Sepulchre.

The Franciscan Monastery has for its object the preservation and maintenance of the Holy Shrines of Palestine, the support of many churches, missions and schools there and in Egypt, Syria and Cyprus, and the education of missionaries for those distant places.

The architecture of the church is Byzantine, modified to accord with Franciscan simplicity and built on the lines of the Five-fold Cross of the Holy Land. Within the church are reproduced a number of the social shrines of the Holy Land. To these replicas the Holy See has accorded the same indulgences that may be obtained at the Holy places in Palestine.

REPRODUCTIONS

In the church, occupying the place of honor, is the Holy Sepulchre. This reproduction shows Our Divine Saviour's tomb as it is at the present day in Jerusalem where a little chapel encloses the rock in which the primitive tomb was hewn.

At the left of the Holy Sepulchre is the altar of St. Francis of Assisi, who is considered by both Catholics and non-Catholics one of the most lovable characters in history. Members of the Order of Friars Minor, which he founded in 1209, care for this monastery.

One of the most interesting places in the monastery is the Catacombs, from which you and I may form an accurate idea of those in Rome. It was in these subterranean passages that the divine services were celebrated during the ages of persecution, as the numerous altars found there today give testimony. There, too, in niches like those seen here, millions of Christian dead were buried.

MARTYRS CRYPT

The passageway leads on to a small circular chapel, called the Martyrs Crypt. This resembles numerous chapels found in the Catacombs where ancient altars were erected over the relics of the martyrs. Beneath this altar repose the remains of St. Benignus, a Roman martyr, formerly buried in the Catacombs of the Eternal City, and enshrined in this wax figure.

Beyond a narrow passageway are two large Catacomb chapels dedicated to St. Celilia, a Virgin-Martyr, and to St. Sebastian, a Soldier-Martyr.

The monastery garden contains a number of outdoor shrines, including a replica of Our Lord's Grotto near the Garden of Gethsemane in Jerusalem and the replica of the Tomb of the Blessed Virgin.

Just outside the monastery garden is a touch of our California in Pilgrimage Hall, reminiscent of the early Franciscan Missions in California.

Rodeo, Stock Show At Galt In August

Lively interest pointing to a large attendance is being shown in the Galt-Sacramento County Livestock Show and Rodeo to be staged at Galt for three days, August 6 to 8. Leading rodeo performers will participate in a variety of events at the Galt arena.

Rodeo performances will be given in the lighted arena Saturday night, August 7, and on Sunday afternoon. There will also be a performance Saturday afternoon, given over to amateur events. Sunday morning there will be a parade. The livestock show, for which a heavy list of entries is reported, will open on Friday, August 6.

Some Good News For Dry Cleaners

Rayon marquisette makes a curtain that hangs beautifully. It came on the market recently and is made in many dark shades. The texture of the fabric is such that it hangs as though it were weighted at the bottom. As with other rayon textiles, much care must be taken in their laundering and ironing. A few trips to the dry cleaners is recommended before beginning to wash them at home.

Lesson Sermon Of Christian Science

In all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, August 1, on the subject "Love."

The Golden Text will be: "Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you." (II Cor. 13: 11). Bible selections will include the following passage from I John 4: 16: "And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him."

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which reads as follows: "Love, the divine Principle, is the Father and Mother of the universe, including man. . . . The precise form of God must be of small importance in comparison with the sublime question, What is infinite Mind or divine Love?" (p. 256).

To Change Name To Avoid Confusion

Aiming to honor the history of South Pasadena, the residential city, to give it distinction, and to rid confusion with neighboring Pasadena, a movement is afoot to change the city's name to "San Pascual."

"The ambiguity of South Pasadena's name has not only caused confusion in the postal service there, but among the residents, as disclosed during the circulation of petitions."

It is not dignified, says a sponsor of the movement, for this community to rely on our world-famous neighbor to the north for its prestige. By adopting the name of San Pascual, we, as a community, would announce to the world that we recognize our obligation and are ready to do our part by adding another illustrious name to southern California." The 1930 Federal listed South Pasadena as having a population of 13,730, while Pasadena was listed with 76,086.

"The city has been incorporated for nearly 50 years."

The name change proposal is expected to be placed on an early ballot.

RACING APPEALS TO A BROAD CLIENTELE

By J. W. MARCHBANK

That racing has grown beyond the limits of a few years back is indicated by the provision of a "free field" at Saratoga. Only in this case the name is a misnomer, as people admitted to the inclosure are charged one dollar. The "free field" is for citizens who feel unable to pay the three dollars and more for admission to the grand stand inclosure.

George Daley, veteran sports writer, says Saratoga is the only track in the state of New York maintaining a place for those of moderate means and characterizes it as a forward step. Formerly all the tracks on the Metropolitan circuit provided such accommodations, but discontinued them on account of the difficulty of controlling the wagering operations.

The rickety little wooden stand has been replaced by a steel structure seating 1100 and those who pay the minimum fee will have every accommodation for their comfort. The idea back of the "free field" is that simply because a man may not be possessed of riches does not necessarily prove he is not a sportsman. In fact, he may have more interest in the racing itself than his wealthier brother.

There was a time when racing attracted only certain groups in the community with small representation at the tracks of what is generally called the middle classes. It has dawned on many thousands, however, that there is as much fun, if not more, at the race track as at the ball yard or even at the stadium where the gridiron contests are held.

As a popular pastime racing is justly accorded a good deal of space on the sports pages of the big dailies. Gradually many of the readers of the clever "stories" about the horses, such as the San Francisco owned champion, Seabiscuit, become dissatisfied with simply being "paper fans" of the sport and go out to the track to see what it is all about.

Seabiscuit was not bred in California, but the state can take a lot of pride in the fact that it was out in this commonwealth that the "Charley" Howard owned and Tom Smith trained thoroughbred was developed.

Japanese Ships Believed Poaching Salmon Near Alaska

Convinced that Japanese fishing off Bristol Bay, Alaska, were raiding the American salmon run and were not fishing for crabs, as supposed, H. B. Friele, chairman of the board of the Association of Pacific Fisheries, recently produced photos of Japanese craft in Alaska waters. Top photo shows a Japanese trawler and a mother ship. The nets drying on the deck are allegedly two miles long while 900 foot gill nets are the longest allowed to American fishermen. Friele said the nets were salmon gear. Steam rising from the mother ship, while at anchor, was viewed as evidence of processing operations. Map at right shows how the nets, if spread to catch salmon on their way into Bristol Bay, will form an artificial shore line and endanger the whole Alaska fishing industry by not allowing the fish to enter the bay and spawn.

Emphasis was also placed on the further general principles that there be increased stress on soil conservation, that the economic use of land be encouraged, that the program be made to fit California conditions, that equal consideration and payments be given equal participation regardless of county lines, that payment be made for the continuance of good practices, and that administrative costs be reduced by all practical means.
